Patrick McCarthy is one of the few foreigners to actually teach karate-do in Japan. Moreover, he is recognized worldwide as one of the foremost authorities on the civil fighting traditions (Koryu Uchinadi) of Okinawa. He is also the first non-oriental to ever be awarded the coveted Kyoshi 7th Dan Teacher's Licence. He has been practicing karate-do for over thirty years and is a world-famous karate historian and author. Mr. McCarthy is a frequent contributor to martial arts magazines through-out the world, author of 'The Classical Kata of Okinawan Karate' and 'The Bible of Karate: BUBISHI'. The theme of this seminar will be theory and practice of (old-school training,) tegumi drills and how they link fundamental techniques to defensive themes. Students of all ages and ranks are encouraged to attend, and will benefit greatly from this unique experience.
