

Kyoshi Patrick McCarthy

7th Dan, Dai Nippon Butokukai Accredited Master-Level Teacher
“The Secrets of Karate” Seminar July 13 & 14, 2002

Patrick McCarthy is one of the few foreigners to actually teach karate-do in Japan. Moreover, he is recognized worldwide as one of the foremost authorities on the civil fighting traditions (Koryu Uchinadi) of Okinawa. He is also the first non-oriental to ever be awarded the coveted Kyoshi 7th Dan Teacher's License. He has been practicing karate-do for over thirty years and is a world-famous karate historian and author. Mr. McCarthy is a frequent contributor to martial arts magazines throughout the world, author of 'The Classical Kata of Okinawan Karate' and 'The Bible of Karate: BUBISHI'.

The seminar will cover the fighting drills of Choki Motobu (arguably pound for pound the greatest fighter of his generation). It will also cover theory and practice of the most effective concepts in the martial arts including pressure points, joint locks, strangulations, takedowns, throws, grappling, and groundwork. Students of all ages and ranks are encouraged to attend, as there will be content for the beginner to the most advanced practitioner, and all will benefit greatly from this unique experience.
